On January 16, 1995, Gary Price was appointed to our Board of Directors, serving as a City Council representative on the Board. He continued to serve on the Board as a community volunteer and this year marks 25 years of total continuous trustee service. Gary is committed to libraries and committed to Cambridge. His strong advocacy and bold vision have guided our organization into what is it today – one of the most progressive and forward-thinking public libraries in Ontario.

Recognized by his peers on the Ontario Library Boards' Association, Gary was awarded the 2016 James Bain Medallion. The medallion is awarded to a board member who has demonstrated outstanding leadership in governing a public library in Ontario. The Awards Committee noted that Gary has “embraced the library as a community hub that engages families with hands on STEM learning, provides Third Age Learning programs for active seniors, and offers an abundance of cultural programs to all citizens of Cambridge.” We couldn’t say it any better. As we celebrate all of our wonderful volunteers this April during National Volunteer Month, we will be sending warm wishes and heart-felt thanks to Gary Price, a volunteer who gives of his experience, knowledge and time to benefit the whole community.

Growing our commitment to community, Idea Exchange is partnering with three local organizations (rare Charitable Research Reserve, Seeds of Diversity, and Cambridge Self-Help Food Bank) to connect with our community in a new way. One Seed, One Community Cambridge (OSOC Cambridge) is a new initiative that will unite the Cambridge and North Dumfries community in the shared experience of growing nutritious food and saving seeds.

At its core, this initiative is a full-circle growing process that invites participants to grow and give back to the community. To get involved, pick up your free seeds from the Seed Library at Idea Exchange, Preston or participating organizations. Then plant, grow, and enjoy your delicious harvest. Launched in February this year, the aptly named ‘Provider’ bean has been selected as the first seed for OSOC Cambridge.

Participants are welcome to give back to the community by donating harvested seeds back to the Idea Exchange, Preston Seed Library and the Cambridge Self-Help Food Bank Seed Library. The Food Bank will also accept donations of freshly harvested beans to distribute to those in need. Join us in helping to grow our community, one seed at a time.

Spring is always a time of anticipation, and this spring has something extra in store for us: triumphant returns from some of your favourite authors. Wherever your reading tastes lie, you’re sure to find something to read and love in this spring’s crop of titles.

Hilary Mantel’s acclaimed Wolf Hall trilogy concludes with this much-anticipated novel, The Mirror and the Light (available March 10), finishing Thomas Cromwell’s saga in the treacherous court of Henry VIII.

The Red Lotus (available March 17) is a page-turning mystery of love and deceit by Chris Bohjalian set in Vietnam that traces the relationship between a doctor and her former patient.

N.K. Jemisin’s latest offering, The City We Became (available March 24), is an epic fantasy about New Yorkers fighting to save their city from a dark fate.

A riveting story connecting two seemingly disparate events, a woman’s mysterious disappearance at sea and a Ponzi scheme that bankrupts the rich and famous, are strung together in The Glass Hotel by Emily St. John Mandel (available March 24).

Volunteer yourself as tribute for the 10th Hunger Games in the The Ballad of Songbirds and Snakes. Expect more intrigue in Suzanne Collins’ dystopian world of Panem with this prequel (available May 19).

Like her famed Neapolitan novels, Elena Ferrante’s most recent work, The Lying Life of Adults (available June 9), is an acutely observed coming-of-age story about a young woman finding her place in the turbulent city of Naples.

Teena, known to her fans as Miss T the Bubble Queen, considers herself a multi-faceted artist and maker. Growing up on a farm taught her that you could make anything – you just have to have a positive attitude and a creative mind.

One of the challenges Teena faced as an entrepreneur was the high cost of bubble-making equipment that she required for her shows. She needed to find a better and more affordable way to make her wands. She came to Idea Exchange, Queen's Square to learn how to use our first 3D printer and, as the saying goes, it was love at first sight (or love at first print). With the help of staff, Teena learned to make her wands, pans, and other equipment needed for her show. It’s really quite amazing to see how she can “MacGyver” materials to make her wands.

However, this is not where Teena’s story ends as she quickly realized that the 3D printer could help in other facets of her life. Using her creativity, she has created garden tools, a wax seal for her paintings, and other amazing projects. Teena loves to promote our Makerspace to others. For her, the space and staff create an environment where anyone can fearlessly try new things. The message at the centre of her Bubbleology Show is that anyone can be anything they want as long as they believe in themselves – a fabulous message for dreamers and makers.

You can catch Miss T the Bubble Queen’s Bubbleology Show at part of Idea Exchange’s March Break programming. Visit ideaexchange.org/marchbreak for full March Break details.

April is National Volunteer Month, a time when we celebrate the exceptional contribution of volunteers make to the Idea Exchange community. During this special month, we’d like to give a big shout-out to our invaluable program support volunteers.

Last year during the week of March Break alone, over 11,000 children attended Idea Exchange’s free programs. Throughout the year, we offer more than 50 programs per week for children, with an additional 30 or more for adults and teens, not to mention outreach programs such as Visiting Library Service and Visiting Library Service for Kids. Executing innovative programs takes engaged people with energy, passion, and kindness to share. How do we create an atmosphere where learning is exciting, discovery is contagious, and programs are FREE?

Beyond our dynamic staff, we rely on a super-engaged team of volunteers. People who love interacting with others, sharing moments of surprise, of entertainment, of something WOW!

Thank you to our all our volunteers for being part of the Idea Exchange team and making our community better.

If you are interested in joining our volunteer team, submit an application at: ideaexchange.org/volunteers

All About Ramadan*
Tuesday, April 21: 7:00 – 8:00pm, QS
Everyone is welcome to join the Islamic Circle of North America as they share information and answer questions about the Islamic month of Ramadan.
Thank you to our funders:
The wonderful thing about art is that it is in everything – every design, innovation, creation, invention, and in every new thought that responds to an old problem. Art is singularly the most important quality of our lives because it defines our ability to adapt, experiment, and to communicate. Art embodies the skills and drive to think and act creatively and it has compelled us to build cities, cure diseases, invent computers, and to change our lives every day in infinite ways that are both small and large. It is art that gives us the imagination to strive for our future and to recognize our past. And it is art that is going to be the most important tool that our youth will need in order to face the unprecedented issues of our time, such as climate change.

Our spring programs explore many different themes including healthy communities, ritual and rebirth, identity, and the environment. We have committed to reaching out to you by creating new opportunities for access including the launch of our Interpretation Station. Located just outside the Queen’s Square Gallery doors in the lobby, the Station contains activity cards that visitors can pick up and complete either right there in the gallery or at home. The activities are designed to accompany our exhibitions and make art concepts fun and easy to understand. Information on primary and secondary colours and an “I Spy” game are included in the activities currently available and with each new exhibition we will launch new activity cards. We hope you will try it out!

We have a BIG BUILD project happening for March Break in which children will transform the gallery working with large and oversized boxes to create their own forts, cities, and play spaces. They can experiment and have fun building on each other’s designs throughout the week. We will also need some great imaginations to help us with a Tiny Town Takeover, a part of this project that explores what an ideal city could look like through using recycled materials. Other free programs including Art Access, Young Interpreters, and our surprise pop-up Art Cart will also be offering exciting ways to try out different art styles and creative materials throughout the spring.

We encourage you to reach out to us, join us for an art activity, or visit an exhibition. Because we really don’t think that there has ever been a better time for people to be creative and so, we really just want to do art with you!
If my room can spell fortune, would you like to come in and visit?

A wonderful memory: after a tasty meal from the local Chinese restaurant, the servers always brought me a cookie to complete the meal. This sweet delight was such a treat not only because it tasted great, but there was that wee slip of paper – my ‘fortune.’

Most people will read their ‘fortunes’ then discard the paper and continue about their regular journey. But what if they saved these leftover fortunes and transplant them into my room to let everyone read and revisit their fortunes again?

In the end, a once leftover paper fortune gets transplanted and reborn into its original purpose.

Projects Review 2020

Projects Review 2020 features graduate and undergraduate projects from the University of Waterloo School of Architecture. The exhibition showcases the creativity, craft, and commitment to architectural excellence that are internationally recognized qualities of the School. Undergraduate projects are immersed in a full range of contemporary issues that span from the nuances of building design to the sustainability of urban precincts. Graduate projects are distinguished by self-directed thesis work that examines the ever changing cultural, digital, poetic, and political conditions confronting architectural practice in the 21st century.
Fibreworks, now in its 18th edition, is a biennial juried exhibition of contemporary Canadian fibre art. The works are selected by an external jury, based on an open call for submissions to Canadian artists. It showcases some of the most current and versatile approaches to fibre as a medium and/or process. This exhibition is one of the largest group shows in Canada and serves as a survey of the artists currently working in the medium. Fibreworks 2020 was juried by Artist Svava Thórdís Juliusson and Curator Marcie Bronson.

Join us to witness a live sculpture creation with a vocal soundscape that will provide an immersive performative art experience. An oversized pendulum filled with sand will use kinetic energy and harmonic motion to slowly create a complex sand sculpture over the course of one hour in the lobby at Idea Exchange, Queen’s Square. While the pendulum swings, vocalists Pam Patel (soprano), Bó Bárdos (mezzo), and multi-instrumentalist Nick Storring, will generate a new composition in response to the manifestation of the sculpture. Using the physics of the pendulum, the artists will explore patterns, ritual, time, and beauty. The artists would like to thank The Region of Waterloo Arts Fund, The Cambridge Centre for the Arts, and The MT Space for their support of this project.

What's blue, green, yellow, orange, and red all over?

Read the Rainbow is our new approach to levelled literacy. Our Youth Services Librarian has put together books, learning games, audio resources, and practice sheets into handy “grab ‘n’ go” bags for members to borrow.

Read the Rainbow compliments literacy development programs at school or elsewhere. Featuring books by your kid’s favourite characters or authors, the kits contain a mix of fiction and non-fiction titles. What unites the materials in each kit is their similar language difficulty level. Read the Rainbow aims to make the literacy journey more accessible and fun for caregivers to explore with their kids.

We encourage readers to jump in and jump around! For example, for a kid who is four years old, pick up an Orange Kit to explore. If it’s too difficult, jump to a Red Kit. Too easy? Jump to a Yellow Kit. Every kit at each level is different and most levels have over a dozen kits to explore with different titles, toys, and practice sheets.

Beyond the kits, there are over a thousand Read the Rainbow classified titles that can be found in our catalogue with individual items available at all locations. Visit us to learn more!
